Customer Authorization for International Wire: I acknowledge that I have verified the referenced information and hereby authorize Convera (formerly Western Union Business Solutions (WUBS)) to transfer the funds accordingly. I understand that Convera will use its best efforts to handle the wire transfer that I have requested, but it does not guarantee either the delivery or the subsequent recovery of the funds to be transferred. I understand that if I have described the beneficiary of this wire transfer order inconsistently by name and account number or other identifying number, payment might be made by the beneficiary's bank on the basis of the number which I have furnished even if it identifies a person different from the named beneficiary, and such circumstances will not excuse me from my obligation to pay the amount of the wire order. If recipient of wire funds does not have an account with access to USD conversion, it will automatically be converted to local currency by Convera to local currency. Other banks involved with the transfer may assess handling charges, in addition to those assessed by Convera for a wire transfer, or any other condition beyond Convera reasonable control. For international wire transfers, Convera will not be responsible for losses from fluctuations in foreign wire exchange rates or impairment of foreign currencies, and additional risk from the economic, social and political environments of foreign countries, and governmental policies that may prevent successful completions of the wire transfer.
