President's View

To have a successful, well operating capitalist economy, legitimate financial institutions such as our regulated credit unions and banks in the USA, must be fundamentally willing and able to lend to qualified applicants. Read any economist of solid repute, and he/she will acknowledge that the engine of entrepreneurial hope, that is, the promise of tomorrow's profitability as a result of funding today's dreams via loans, is a vital component of capitalism, by far the most successful economic system yet devised. Are banks as willing to lend these days as your Credit Union? The statistics available are indicating probably not. Not only are we, as the one financial institution you OWN, willing to lend, we are proud to acknowledge the fact that we must lend in order to maintain our viability. We want to lend to you to finance both your needs and your dreams.

What do you have to do? I know you know the answer to that, but let me state it briefly anyway: You must show us the ability to repay what you want to borrow, and the historically proven willingness to do so (via your good credit report). If your credit report has a few stains on it, our Loan Officers will look for offsetting aspects of your financial profile in the effort to find reasons to get to "Yes." Work with us, talk to us, and explain things where necessary, and we promise to work with you! Moreover, if you already have loans with us and encounter a cash flow problem, impairing your ability to repay – talk to us – as that is very important in the ongoing effort to preserve your credit standing. Your good credit is not an asset that you can put a monetary value on in your personal balance sheet, but it is, in very real terms, one of your most valuable assets.

When you do solid, active business with us, you are strengthening the Credit Union. In turn, we are indirectly able to strengthen the entire network of companies and members/consumers whose financial lives we so closely touch every day. Seem farfetched? I don't think so; we have received testimony from many members over the years, in particular those entrepreneurial Farmers agents and employees we serve, that a loan we made them or the unmatched personal member service we have been specializing in delivering for decades, enabled them to build up their economic well-being further. That is our mission, and we succeed in delivering on that promise every day.

One service helping us to ensure member satisfaction remains high is Privilege Pay Overdraft. Federal regulations now require members to opt-in to this convenient service. You may have already received a letter, or otherwise been offered the opportunity to opt-in for ATM and Debit Card overdraft service. What this means is that if you do not have funds available from your usual account sources, we stand in for you with an extra $200 – or $500 if you have a recurring direct deposit credit each month. For example, if you for whatever reason found yourself out of funds and stranded at a gas station with an ATM nearby, you could take advantage of your Privilege Pay service with us to make a $400 cash withdrawal and be on your way. That service charge would be $30.00, but in that event, or the event of having to buy necessities such as groceries on your Debit Card, might be well worth it to you occasionally. If you have a checking account with us, I strongly recommend you opt-in to make sure you retain our Privilege Pay Overdraft service, in the event you ever need emergency funds. Consider the power of this added flexibility and do not deprive yourself of this extra funds access – opt-in to Privilege Pay Overdraft service for ATM withdrawals and Visa Debit Card transactions.

Protect Your Account and Good Credit

Protect your account from the inconvenience and expenses of Non-sufficient Funds (NSFs) with Privilege Pay – an overdraft service provided by FIGFCU. It covers overdrawn checking account transactions, including checks, ACH electronic payments, internet, ATM withdrawals and merchant debit purchases – up to a designated limit.

New federal regulations will require members to "Opt-in" to Privilege Pay in order to have their ATM and/or Visa Check Card debit transactions covered. Checks and ACH items may still be paid without this request, but unless you "Opt-in" to this service, the purchases made with your Visa Check Card or ATM card may be declined, if funds are not available in your checking account to cover the transaction – even in the case of an emergency, while traveling, or at merchant locations, like grocery stores, gas stations and restaurants.

To avoid embarrassment and to make sure your important transactions are covered, you may opt-in by phone at 800.877.2345, online at www.figfcu.com/optin, or by visiting a branch location. Opt-in today – Privilege Pay can save you hundreds of dollars in merchant fees and penalties, and protect your good name and credit rating.
